Activist, Sculptor and Author James “Bud” Bottoms Releases Latest Children’s Book Dedicated to the Environment

Media review and promotion copies available upon request.

James “Bud” Bottoms is internationally famous for his marine mammal sculptures, fountains and monuments. He is now also writing and illustrating wonderful books teaching ethics and environmentalism to children.

“Grandmother Mountain” is full of outstanding color illustrations that correspond to the story of a majestic mountain and the animals that call her their home. One day, the mountain is corrupted and intruded upon, resulting in a terrible conflagration and finally a settling and cooling down. In the end, this is a story of the great mountain’s majesty, destruction, resurrection and resilience in the face of adversity. All in all, a valuable lesson for children and families today

Bud has also just released a reprint of his “Davey and the Giant Oil Monster (GOM),” which focuses on the damage done by the oil industry on our precious coasts and wildlife. Bud’s wonderful illustrations will hopefully encourage children and their families everywhere to help clean up our environment before it is too late.

Bud’s “Kid Ethics” titles teach values like integrity, honesty and justice to children. Mr. Bottoms takes the letters of the alphabet and assigns an ethic to each that are then explained with short stories to which everyone can relate. They are accompanied by the author’s charming illustrations that can be colored in by the reader. A two-line rhyme summarizes the ethic, making it fun to understand.

We are proud of Bud’s contributions to children everywhere, and will be happy to provide additional information upon request. You can reach Bud directly at (805) 962-3113.
